You went out of your way dave and you should apologize as a man either prove your comment or get read son as you have placed me in a very straight line of response if you think I am kidding you obviously you are dumber than I thought but I will be attempting to see about your employment and other things as I prepare to serve you banks and vogue and other things are already noted what choice have you left me son?

mark here attempted to do you a favor rather than me by taking your damming post down he could have told you what he knows about your comments and did not but suffice to say it is too late and saved and reposted as I gave you a chance to correct your silly error if you think for one second I wont bother you have not obviously read what you said I said and compared it to what I actually did say

my beef is not with some young kid too blind to see the truth but make no bones about shaming me and how I must respond

mark I will honor your wish and I am quite frankly stunned you would not say something to this young lad yourself when I win my court case as expected I will remember who was bright enough and brave enough to have been green all along

dave get much smarter much faster as the results will for very little money leave you with a large dollar judgement against you for many years son
